By using our Websites, you consent to the use of cookies.

Our Cookies Policy explains what cookies are, how we use cookies, how third-parties we may partner with may use cookies on our Websites, your choices regarding cookies and further information about cookies.

What is a cookie?

A cookie is a small text file that a website saves on your computer or mobile device when you visit the site. It enables the website to remember your actions and preferences (such as login, language, font size and other display preferences) over a period of time, so you don't have to keep re-entering them whenever you come back to the site or browse from one page to another.

How AIJA uses cookies

When you visit our Websites, our system automatically collects information about your visit, such as your browser type, your IP address and the referring website. See below for descriptions about the cookies used on our websites and how you can opt out from them:

Required Cookies: enable the navigation and basic functionality of the website, e.g., access to protected areas of the websites. Opt-out: You can configure your browser to disable these Required Cookies. This may reduce the functionality of the website.

Functional Cookies: allow us to analyse your website usage and your selections on the website (e.g. your login name, language, or region), so we can save these settings and offer you a more personalised experience. Our website uses Google Analytics, a web analysis service of Google, Inc. (“Google”). Learn more from their Terms of Service and Privacy Policy. Opt-out: Download the browser plugin “Google Analytics Opt-out Browser Add-on here.”

We also use third party cookies from YouTube to embed videos. Learn more from their Privacy Policy.
